

How can the daily life of USC students be made better?

With many new freshmen on campus, there is a lot of confusion in the air. With the lack of direction around campus, class confusion, and inconsistencies with transportation, there needs to be a better way for USC students to get the information they need in one place. Every year there seems to be more and more students in the coming class. To have some sort of website or app that has any and all things would be helpful to all.
